Get to know Korean filmmaking with the U.S premiere of the thriller Bestseller, written and directed by Lee Jeong-ho. Best-selling novelist Hee-Soo retreats to the country after a plagiarism scandal. There she hears a mysterious figure tell horrifying stories. Desperate for a comeback, Hee-Soo uses these stories as the basis for her next novel, which becomes another best seller. Her success is short lived as the stories in the novel are discovered to have been published 10 years earlier. To prove her innocence, she returns to the country to uncover the mystery that lies there. In Korean, with English subtitles. Pre-event performance by up-and-coming Korean fusion music ensemble Yerak on Edison Plaza.
